TULANE EUROPEAN AND CIVIL LAW FORUM

VOLUME 24  2009

THE BICENTENNIAL OF THE DIGEST OF 1808—COLLECTED PAPERS

Contents

Foreword from the Editor in Chief

1. The Digest of 1808: Historical Perspectives .............................. 1
   GEORGE DARGO
   Professor of Law, New England Law School, Boston.

2. The de la Vergne Volume and the Digest of 1808 ................................................................. 31
   JOHN W. CAIRNS
   Professor of Legal History, University of Edinburgh.

3. The Strange Science of Codifying Slavery—Moreau Lislet and the Louisiana Digest of 1808 ................. 83
   VERNON VALENTINE PALMER
   Thomas Pickles Professor of Law and Co-Director, Eason-Weinmann Center of Comparative Law, Tulane University.

4. “She . . . Refuses To Deliver Up Herself as the Slave of Your Petitioner”: Émigrés, Enslavement, and the 1808 Louisiana Digest of the Civil Laws ................................................................. 115
   REBECCA J. SCOTT
   Charles Gibson Distinguished University Professor of History and Law, University of Michigan.
5. “Adapted to Its Present System of Government”: Legal Change, National Reorganization, and the Louisiana Civil Law Digest ....................................................137
   Peter J. Kastor
   Associate Professor of History and American Culture Studies, Washington University in St. Louis.

6. “Formerly the Property of a Lawyer”—Books That Shaped Louisiana Law ....................................................161
   Florence M. Jumonville
   Chair, Louisiana and Special Collections Department, Earl Long Library, University of New Orleans.

   James Gordley
   W.R. Irby Professor of Law, Tulane University School of Law.

   Shael Herman
   Professor Emeritus, Tulane Law School, New Orleans, Louisiana.

9. The Reception of Legal Systems in the Americas: Diversities and Convergences .........................................231
   Jorge Sánchez Cordero
   Director, Centro Mexicano de Derecho Uniforme.