Table of Contents

Enforceable Fair and Square: The Right of Publicity, Unconscionability, and NCAA Student-Athlete Contracts
Kendall K. Johnson ...........................................................................................................1

From Tweets to Twibel: Why the Current Defamation Law Does Not Provide for Jay Cutler’s Feelings
Joe Trevino ..................................................................................................................49

Unasked Questions: Applying Title IX’s Effective Accommodation Mandate to Interscholastic Athletics
Andrew J. Weissler ......................................................................................................71

Reasonable Relocation: Antitrust Implications of Restrictions on Movement of Professional Sports Teams
Robert A. Gottfried ......................................................................................................109

College Football’s BCS (Bowl Charity System?): An Analysis of the Characterization of BCS Bowls as Public Charities that Receive Tax-Exempt Status
Britton R. Wight ........................................................................................................129

Revisiting the NHL Collective Bargaining Agreement: Undermining the Spirit of the Cap, Implications to the Agent, and Prospective Remedies for the League’s Consideration
Elliot Patterson Saccucci .............................................................................................145

Take Some Land for the Ball Game: Sports Stadiums, Eminent Domain, and the Public Use Debate
Michael Birch .............................................................................................................173
It’s Not a Foul Unless the Ref Blows the Whistle: How To Step Up Enforcement of the UAAA and SPARTA
Michael L. Martin ................................................................ 209

Reasonable Accommodations for High School Athletes with Disabilities: Preserving Sports While Providing Access for All
James P. Looby .................................................................... 227

The Changing Face of the “Sport of Kings”: A Brief History of Thoroughbred Horse Racing in the United States, Its Recent Decline, and the Legal Implications Surrounding Racing Partnerships and Syndicates in the Current Landscape
Matthew Gallagher ............................................................... 275

Defining “Sport” Under Title IX: Cheerleading, Biediger v. Quinnipiac University, and the Proper Scope of Agency Deference
Ephraim Glatt ....................................................................... 297

The National Pastime of the American Judiciary: Reexamining the Strength of Major League Baseball’s Antitrust Exemption Following the Passage of the Curt Flood Act and the Supreme Court’s Ruling in American Needle, Inc. v. NFL
Avraham J. Sommer ............................................................. 325

Hart v. Electronic Arts, Inc.: The District of New Jersey Tackles College Athletes’ Publicity Rights
Nathan Crown ...................................................................... 345

Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Ass’n v. Gannett Co.—A Dollar and a Stream: Exclusive Broadcasting License Does Not Violate the First Amendment
Darsh U. Patel ...................................................................... 363

Tulane University Law School Moot Court Mardi Gras Invitational: 2011 Competition
Problem ................................................................................ 379
Winning Brief.................................................................413