THE SPORTS LAWYERS JOURNAL
VOLUME 21  SPRING 2014  NUMBER 1

Table of Contents

Systematic Negligence: The NCAA Concussion Management Plan and Its Limitations
   Elizabeth Etherton .................................................................... 1

Harvard or Hardball? An Examination of Ethical Issues Faced by Lawyer-Agents
   Jeffrey C. Meehan .................................................................. 45

“Physically Ready To Compete”: Can Players’ Unions Bar Potential Draftees Based on Their Age?
   Kevin W. Brooks .................................................................... 89

Road to Recovery: The NCAA’s New Enforcement Process Creates More Legal Headaches
   Brandon Leibsohn ................................................................ 123

The Legalization of Sports Gambling: An Irreparable Harm or the Beginning of Unprecedented Growth?
   Nicholas Burkhart
   Dylan Welsh ......................................................................... 145

Should the Crime Determine the Extent of Due Process?: The National Collegiate Athletic Association Followed Such Logic During the Penn State Scandal
   Brett McClain Epstein .......................................................... 169

Sports Consumers: Ticket-Holding Fans’ Rights in Light of “Spursgate”
   Tayler W. Tibbitts ................................................................ 201

“The Emperor Has No Clothes”: The NCAA’s Last Chance as the Middle Man in College Athletics
   Nicolas A. Novy ................................................................... 227
MLB International Player Draft: Home Run or Headache?
Jeffrey J. Tiedeman .............................................................. 255

National Football Scouting, Inc. v. Rang:
Copyrightability and Fair Use of Player Performance Grades
Kristine E. Ortiz ................................................................. 281

Mann v. Louisiana High School Athletic Ass’n:
The Game Plan for Eluding High School Eligibility Rules
Brett E. Beter ................................................................. 297

Tulane University Law School Moot Court
Mardi Gras Invitational: 2013 Competition
Problem ................................................................. 311
Winning Brief ............................................................ 341